DON'T WORRY – BE HAPPY | SHOWCASE

“Are you enjoying or enduring work?”

Thursday, 21 August 2014

We will spend approximately 45 years of our lives in the workforce. If you had a choice between enjoying and enduring those 45 years which would you choose? The good news is that you do have a choice.

Based on positive and evolutionary psychology concepts this session pinpoints the factors which lead to higher levels of individual satisfaction and team collaboration. It provides practical strategies and ideas to create a more fun, engaged and productive workplace.

This session will focus on key requirements for individual fulfilment and performance as they relate to the work the person does, the people they work with and the way they are led.

Discover ways to help people shine and leverage more of their talents. Identify how to build a feeling of safety, which creates higher levels of trust, collaboration and performance. Create a culture that doesn't need to be reinforced by posters on the wall.
